PRESS SHEET

Patrick J. Wolf, PhD

Business and civic leader | Post Falls, Idaho

Patrick J. Wolf, PhD, is a business and civic leader based in Post Falls, Idaho. As Executive Director of the Institute for American Manufacturing & Technology, he works with manufacturers, entrepreneurs, and policymakers on American industry, energy, and economic growth. His professional background spans industrial engineering, business strategy, and technology. Patrick earned his PhD in Communication from Liberty University in 2022 and is active in civic and community service in North Idaho.

Education
PhD in Communication, Liberty University (2022)
MBA; bachelor's degree in industrial engineering

Speaking & interviews

- American manufacturing and industrial capacity
- Energy, supply chains, and economic growth
- Business leadership and practical results
- Civic service and community organization

Selected work & references

RESEARCH
When Specifications Become Single Points of Failure
Engine oil standards and manufacturing supply chains.

INTERVIEW
Reindustrialization Beyond Announcements
U.S. Manufacturing Today with Matt Horine, June 16, 2026.

EDUCATION
Liberty University doctoral record
Communication research published under Patrick Joseph Wolf, 2022.

Media & speaking inquiries patrickjwolf.com/contact

Full biography, original portraits, and permissions: patrickjwolf.com/press-kit

Photography supplied by Patrick J. Wolf. Updated November 8, 2026.